

Powered by  Clickability

FSU College of Medicine Can Weather Budget Cuts

Posted: 6:58 PM May 19, 2009

Last Updated: 6:58 PM May 19, 2009

Reporter: John Rogers

Email Address: john.rogers@wctv.tv

Florida State's College of Medicine can buffer the effects of state budget cuts...for now. A | A | A

A College of Medicine spokesperson says budget cuts have trimmed $3.6 million from the school's general revenue.

But, the school will receive $3 million in stimulus money, and this, coupled with other reserve funding, will lessen the impact of the cuts.

The official says there will be no program closures and no doctors will be laid off.

However, school enrollment will be higher in 2010 and that's when the stimulus money runs out, so officials are hopeful the economy will be stronger then

Find this article at:

<http://www.wctv.tv/home/headlines/45440807.html>

Check the box to include the list of links referenced in the article.

Copyright © 2002-2008 - Gray Television Group, Inc.