

FSU College of Medicine hosts faculty training

Juliette Lomax-Homier, YourNews contributor 12 p.m. EST November 8, 2016

(Photo: Beth Strack)

FORT PIERCE — Continuing education and faculty development are an important part of the responsibilities of the Fort Pierce Regional Campus of the Florida State University College of Medicine.

Terri Johnson, the medical informatics librarian, and Dr. Johann Santa-Eulalia, Fort Pierce informatics director, recently facilitated a workshop entitled “Searching and Accessing Full Text Journal Articles.”

Our clerkship faculty, who are practicing physicians from Sebastian to Stuart and teachers of our medical students, learned how to access our extensive electronic medical library to improve patient care here on the Treasure Coast.

The Fort Pierce Regional Campus has graduated 127 physicians since 2009.

Like us on Facebook: Florida State University College of Medicine — Fort Pierce Regional Campus

Read or Share this story: <http://www.tcpalm.com/story/specialty-publications/your-news/st-lucie-county/reader-submitted/2016/11/08/fsu-college-medicine-hosts-faculty-training/93467380/>