

Capital Medical Society Alliance donates $2,500 to community charities

Special to the Chronicle Published 11:04 p.m. ET Dec. 10, 2017

(Photo: Special to the Chronicle)

The 2017 Capital Medical Society Alliance donated $2,500 for accessible healthcare and healthcare education to benefit the community. At a Fundraiser in September, Sponsored by SunTrust bank, the Capital Medical Society Alliance (CMSA) hosted its members and their spouses to an Austrian Wine Tasting at the home of Drs Matt & Stephanie Lee.

Monies raised at the fundraiser enabled CMSA to donated $1,000 to Brehon House, $1,000 to Florida State University College of Medicine and $500 to Capital Medical Society Foundation.

(left to right) Jackie Malone, Brehon, Executive Director; Ida Thompson, CMSA President, Mara Rumana and Hien Guyer, CMSA Past Presidents (Photo: Special to the Chronicle)

The Capital Medical Society Alliance are physician spouses dedicated to the health, education, wellness and community service in the Big Bend area: Leon, Gadsen, Jefferson and Wakulla counties.

The CMSA is affiliated with the Capital Medical Society, CMS, the professional membership organization for physicians who live and work in the Big Bend area; Leon, Gadsen, Jefferson and Wakulla counties.

Read or Share this story: <http://www.tallahassee.com/story/life/chronicle/2017/12/10/capital-medical-society-alliance-donates-2-500-community-charities/939503001/>