

Campus Notes

Aug. 12, 2013

New directors join FSU Alumni Association

The FSU Alumni Association National Board of Directors has several new directors who are faculty members at FSU. FSU Board of Trustees Chair Allan Bense (B.S. '72, M.B.A. '74) selected Tallahassee resident Judge Stephen Brown (B.S. '68), retired federal judge and current FSU adjunct professor of law, as his board designee. Mark Ellis, Ph.D. (B.S. '79, J.D. '84), executive director of the International Bar Association and FSU adjunct professor of law, and Michael Sweeney, M.D., M.B.A. (B.S. '75), surgeon and FSU College of Medicine assistant professor, were elected to the national board as at-large directors during the association's annual board meeting earlier this summer. They are among seven new directors who began three-year terms on July 1.