1st Place winner was the "Golden Eagle cine in Florida," said Dr. Jones. "This is an expensive proposition these days. My friends help support medical students, who have not only a financial need, but a desire to stay in Florida and practice medicine." The Capital Medical Society Scholarship Foundation Committee presented the scholarships to each of the recipients at the Capital Medical Society Membership Meeting at the Marriott Center for Lifelong Learning at Westminster Oaks on Sept. 17.

Regions Medical Society, Dr. Frank Walker, selected the scholarship recipients. "Attending medical school is a very expensive proposition these days. My friends help support medical students, who have not only a financial need, but a desire to stay in Florida and practice medicine," said Dr. Jones. "Nearly two-thirds of actively practicing physicians still carry debt from medical school, according to a new national survey by the American Medical Association. Of those doctors, 42% had more than $250,000 in debt. The high cost of medical school loans weighs heavily on doctors for many years following graduation. One-third of respondents (34%) expect to take at least 10 years to pay off their student loans. "The Capital Medical Society Foundation Scholarship Fund has been one of the most successful and well-supported programs first established by Capital Medical Society more than 32 years ago. Archived records since 1997 document that Capital Medical Society Foundation has provided scholarships totaling $642,489 to students in the Program in Medical Science Program, the premedical program at Florida State University College of Medicine, University of Florida medical students, and FSU College of Medicine students. $930,000 of those scholarships have been awarded to FSU College of Medicine students beginning with those in its inaugural Class of 2005. An additional $50,000 was awarded this year. Many of those past recipients are now practicing in Tallahassee and have some serve on the Scholarship Committee.

The Capital Medical Society Foundation will host their annual fundraising event, the 2019 Capital Medical Society Foundation Holiday Auction, in December to raise funds for medical school scholarships and other programs in fulfillment of its mission.

The 2019 scholarship recipients are Elaine Cote, Laura Anne Marie Davis, Shelby De Cardenas, Chase Forehand, Jacqueline Harners, Laken Johnson, Samantha Mahon, Canessa Matthews, Christopher Pope, and Lauryn Reid.

The winning teams were as follows: 1st Place winner was the "Golden Eagle Buzzards" with players: Dan Collin, Jeff Hogan, Nick Nixon and Bill Smith. The 2nd Place winner was American Commerce Bank with players: Johnny Jones, Justin Wimbrey, Chase Link and Dallas Strickland. Presenting the trophies were Commander Lightfoot and Tony Minichiello, the Post’s Adjutant and Chair of the Golf Tournament. AMVETS National was chartered in 1947 and the Tallahassee AMVETS Post 1776 was chartered in July 2009. AMVETS Post 1776 meets on the first Thursday of the month at the Allegro Senior Living Center at 4500 Shanon Lakes West.

We invite honorably discharged veterans from all branches to join us. We are a small Post doing big things for Veterans in the Tallahassee area. For more information call Commander Lightfoot at the above number.

The Capital Medical Society (CMS) Foundation awarded scholarships to 10 students in their first or second year of medical school at the Florida State University College of Medicine and third and fourth year medical students at the Tallahassee Regional Campus of FSU College of Medicine on the basis of financial need.

Dr. David Jones, who serves as the CMS Foundation Scholarship Committee, presented the scholarships to each of the recipients at the Capital Medical Society Membership Meeting at the Marriott Center for Lifelong Learning at Westminster Oaks on Sept. 17.

A committee comprised of Capital Medical Society members and Dr. Myra Hart, FSU College of Medicine Junior Associate Dean for Interdisciplinary Medical Sciences and chair of the local pediatrician, Dr. Frank Walker, selected the scholarship recipients. "Attending medical school is a very expensive proposition these days. My friends help support medical students, who have not only a financial need, but a desire to stay in Florida and practice medicine," said Dr. Jones. Nearly two-thirds of actively practicing physicians still carry debt from medical school, according to a new national survey by the American Medical Association. Of those doctors, 42% had more than $250,000 in debt. The high cost of medical school loans weighs heavily on doctors for many years following graduation. One-third of respondents (34%) expect to take at least 10 years to pay off their student loans.

The Capital Medical Society Foundation Scholarship Fund has been one of the most successful and well-supported programs first established by Capital Medical Society more than 32 years ago. Archived records since 1997 document that Capital Medical Society Foundation has provided scholarships totaling $642,489 to students in the Program in Medical Science Program, the premedical program at Florida State University College of Medicine, University of Florida medical students, and FSU College of Medicine students. $930,000 of those scholarships have been awarded to FSU College of Medicine students beginning with those in its inaugural Class of 2005. An additional $50,000 was awarded this year. Many of those past recipients are now practicing in Tallahassee and have some serve on the Scholarship Committee.

The Capital Medical Society Foundation will host their annual fundraising event, the 2019 Capital Medical Society Foundation Holiday Auction, in December to raise funds for medical school scholarships and other programs in fulfillment of its mission.

The 2019 scholarship recipients are Elaine Cote, Laura Anne Marie Davis, Shelby De Cardenas, Chase Forehand, Jacqueline Harners, Laken Johnson, Samantha Mahon, Canessa Matthews, Christopher Pope, and Lauryn Reid.

The winning teams were as follows: 1st Place winner was the "Golden Eagle Buzzards" with players: Dan Collin, Jeff Hogan, Nick Nixon and Bill Smith. The 2nd Place winner was American Commerce Bank with players: Johnny Jones, Justin Wimbrey, Chase Link and Dallas Strickland. Presenting the trophies were Commander Lightfoot and Tony Minichiello, the Post’s Adjutant and Chair of the Golf Tournament. AMVETS National was chartered in 1947 and the Tallahassee AMVETS Post 1776 was chartered in July 2009. AMVETS Post 1776 meets on the first Thursday of the month at the Allegro Senior Living Center at 4500 Shanon Lakes West.

We invite honorably discharged veterans from all branches to join us. We are a small Post doing big things for Veterans in the Tallahassee area. For more information call Commander Lightfoot at the above number.

The Capital Medical Society (CMS) Foundation awarded scholarships to 10 students in their first or second year of medical school at the Florida State University College of Medicine and third and fourth year medical students at the Tallahassee Regional Campus of FSU College of Medicine on the basis of financial need.

Dr. David Jones, who serves as the CMS Foundation Scholarship Committee, presented the scholarships to each of the recipients at the Capital Medical Society Membership Meeting at the Marriott Center for Lifelong Learning at Westminster Oaks on Sept. 17.

A committee comprised of Capital Medical Society members and Dr. Myra Hart, FSU College of Medicine Junior Associate Dean for Interdisciplinary Medical Sciences and chair of the local pediatrician, Dr. Frank Walker, selected the scholarship recipients. "Attending medical school is a very expensive proposition these days. My friends help support medical students, who have not only a financial need, but a desire to stay in Florida and practice medicine," said Dr. Jones. Nearly two-thirds of actively practicing physicians still carry debt from medical school, according to a new national survey by the American Medical Association. Of those doctors, 42% had more than $250,000 in debt. The high cost of medical school loans weighs heavily on doctors for many years following graduation. One-third of respondents (34%) expect to take at least 10 years to pay off their student loans.

The Capital Medical Society Foundation Scholarship Fund has been one of the most successful and well-supported programs first established by Capital Medical Society more than 32 years ago. Archived records since 1997 document that Capital Medical Society Foundation has provided scholarships totaling $642,489 to students in the Program in Medical Science Program, the premedical program at Florida State University College of Medicine, University of Florida medical students, and FSU College of Medicine students. $930,000 of those scholarships have been awarded to FSU College of Medicine students beginning with those in its inaugural Class of 2005. An additional $50,000 was awarded this year. Many of those past recipients are now practicing in Tallahassee and have some serve on the Scholarship Committee.

The Capital Medical Society Foundation will host their annual fundraising event, the 2019 Capital Medical Society Foundation Holiday Auction, in December to raise funds for medical school scholarships and other programs in fulfillment of its mission.

The 2019 scholarship recipients are Elaine Cote, Laura Anne Marie Davis, Shelby De Cardenas, Chase Forehand, Jacqueline Harners, Laken Johnson, Samantha Mahon, Canessa Matthews, Christopher Pope, and Lauryn Reid.